Well hello there, friends! If we haven't had the pleasure of meeting before, let me take a quick minute to share my story with you.

I'm a proud wife, mother to two adult children, and "Grampreneur" to four of the most amazing little grandchildren you ever saw 😊. Now, being a high school dropout, I learned quickly that there was going to be a lot more month than money coming in - and let me tell you, that just wasn't going to fly for me.

I knew I had to shake things up, and that's when I discovered the world of network marketing. I jumped into that with both feet and gave it my all, even though that road was bumpier than anything I could have ever imagined! I decided to use social media to build my business since it gave me a worldwide reach. But I sure wasn't prepared for all the ups and downs that came with it.

Through it all though, I kept on pushing. Even when things got tough, I never lost my belief in what I was doing. And you know what? I started loving that work-from-home freedom more and more with each passing day. It just made me even more determined to make this thing work, no matter what, and it has.
